Phil 1120 Social Ethics

Course Description

In this course, we will think critically about contemporary moral issues. First, we'll consider various meta ethical questions: Is ethics subjective; do the right answers to moral questions depend on the sentiments of individuals? Is ethics culturally relative; do the answers to ethical questions vary from one culture to the next? Does ethics come from the commands of God?

Next, we'll discuss objective moral theories. Is utilitarianism true; should we make ethical decisions based on what achieves the greatest good for the greatest number? Is deontology true; does the moral status of an action depend on the intentions of the person performing it? Is virtue theory true; ought morality to be a matter of developing certain traits of character? Is care ethics true; do our moral obligations arise out of the care relationships that we take on?

Finally (and for the majority of the course) we'll discuss some of the most pressing social issues of our day. We'll discuss issues that we all have to make moral decisions about in the here and now. Issues this semester will include: animal ethics, ethics and technology, civil disobedience and ethical issues pertaining to the criminal justice system, poverty and economic justice, and environmental ethics.

Course Objectives

By the end of this course, you will be able to:

1. Work through moral issues in nuanced and thoughtful ways.
2. Identify, understand, and reasonably respond to the points of view of people with whom you disagree.
3. Articulate the major moral theories in a way that indicates familiarity with some of the history of moral thought.

Course Requirements

Each student will:

1. Contribute to weekly discussion boards. Each student must provide their own response to the question prompt and respond in a meaningful way to the contribution of another student. (200 points, 20% of the course grade).

2. Take two exams, a midterm (250 points, 25% of the course grade) and a final (250 points, 25% of the course grade). Questions will be a combination of true/false and multiple choice. You will need to contact the testing center to reserve a time to take each exam. The final is not cumulative.
   - Midterm Exam available in the Testing Center October 18th-October 20th.
   - Final Exam available in the Testing Center December 13th-17th.

3. Complete a series of Ethical Position Paper Assignments, building to a final paper. (These will total 300 points, 30% of the course grade). Students will select an issue from a list the instructor will provide and will write a position paper on that issue. This assignment will be scaffolded; the student will do a series of assignments on Canvas throughout the semester that will assist them in completing their final case study paper at the end of the semester.
   - Ethical Position Paper Assignment One: Using Library Databases (50 points). Due Monday, September 27th.
     - This is a Canvas Assignment offered through the library that teaches students how to use the important library database, JSTOR. Please refer to the assignment rubric for a full sense of what will be expected out of you for this assignment.
   - Ethical Position Paper Assignment Two: Peer Review (50 points). Due Monday, October 25th.
• Students will write a three page, double-spaced (12 point font, standard margins) version of their paper. They will submit this version to the Peer Review Assignment online. All students will be required to participate in peer review. Please refer to the assignment rubric for a full sense of what will be expected out of you for this assignment. Paper length does not include any title page or works cited page.

• Ethical Position Paper Assignment Three: First Draft for Feedback (50 points). Due Monday, November 15th.

• At this stage, students will construct a five page, double-spaced (12-point font, standard margins) version of their paper. I will provide written feedback on drafts. Please refer to the assignment rubric for a full sense of what will be expected out of you for this assignment. Paper length does not include any title page or works cited page.

• Ethical Position Paper Assignment Four (150 points). Due Monday, December 6th.

• At this stage, students will write the final, five page double-spaced (12-point font, standard margins) version of their position papers. One of the primary criteria for grading will be the degree to which students took into account the feedback they received on previous versions of the paper. Please refer to the assignment rubric for a full sense of what will be expected out of you for this assignment. Paper length does not include any title page or works cited page.

Evaluation Methods and Criteria

Rubrics will be available for each assignment so students can get a sense of how they will be graded.

Course Schedule/Outline

PART ONE: METAETHICS AND NORMATIVE ETHICS

Week One (August 30th-September 3rd): NO CLASS ON FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 3rd.

Introduction to Ethics. The big questions for this week are: What are ethics? How do ethics differ from etiquette? How do they differ from law? How do they differ from religion? What is normativity and why does it matter?

Reading(s):

Morality and Moral Philosophy by William K. Frankena (Links to an external site.) (Exploring Ethics Chapter One)

Due September 1st: Discussion One: Introductions.

Week Two (September 6th-10th): NO CLASS ON MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6TH (LABOR DAY).

Metaethics: Subjectivism, Relativism. The big questions for this week are: Are ethical questions resolved by taste or sentiment? Do ethics vary from one culture to another? Or, instead, are ethics objective?

Reading(s):

How Not to Answer Moral Questions by Tom Regan

The Challenge of Cultural Relativism by James Rachels (Links to an external site.)

Due September 10th: Discussion Two.

Week Three (September 13th-17th):

Introduction to Ethical Theory and Virtue Ethics. The big questions for this week are: What have the major ethical theories been throughout history? What does it mean to have a good moral character? What is the best way to develop good traits of character?
Reading(s):

The Nature of Virtue by Aristotle (Links to an external site.) (Exploring Ethics Chapter Sixteen).
Virtue Ethics by Julia Driver (Links to an external site.) (Exploring Ethics Chapter Seventeen).

Due September 17th: Discussion Three.

Week Four (September 20th-24th):

Deontology. The big questions for this week are: What reasons do we have for thinking that intentions are relevant to ethics? What is universalizability and why does it matter? What does it mean to make an exception of oneself? What is the relationship between morality and autonomy?

Reading(s):

The Categorical Imperative by Immanuel Kant (from his work Groundwork for the Metaphysics of Morals) (Links to an external site.) (Exploring Ethics Chapter Twelve).
A Simplified Account of Kant's Ethics by Onora O'Neill (Links to an external site.) (Exploring Ethics Chapter Thirteen).

Due September 24th: Discussion Four.

Week Five (September 27th-October 1st):

Utilitarianism. The big questions for the week are: What is the relationship between consequences and ethics? What kinds of consequences matter? Does ethics require impartiality? If so, why?

Reading(s):

Utilitarianism by John Stuart Mill (Links to an external site.) (Exploring Ethics Chapter Fourteen).
The Strengths and Weaknesses of Utilitarianism by Louis P. Pojman (Links to an external site.) The Strengths and Weaknesses of Utilitarianism (Exploring Ethics Chapter Fifteen)

Due October 1st: Discussion Five.

Week Six (October 4th- October 8th):

Care Ethics. The big questions for the week are: What role do our relationships play in our moral obligations? What is care? What is the relationship between care and ethics?
Reading(s):

The Ethics of Care by Virginia Held (Links to an external site.) (Exploring Ethics Chapter Eighteen).

Due October 8th: Discussion Six.

Week Seven (October 11th-October 15th):

Catch-up and Review.

PART TWO: APPLIED ETHICS

Week Eight (October 18th-October 22nd):

Poverty and Economic Justice. The big questions for this week are: What are our obligations to the global poor? What arguments exist in favor of providing considerably more assistance to the global poor than we currently do? What arguments exist against that idea?

Reading(s):

  Famine, Affluence, and Morality by Peter Singer

  Lifeboat Ethics by Garett Hardin (Links to an external site.)

Exam One in Testing Center (please schedule an appointment), October 18th-20th.

Due October 22nd: Discussion Seven.

Week Nine (October 25th-October 29th): The Ethics of Civil Disobedience and Protest. The big questions for this week are: What is civil disobedience and when, if ever, is it justified? What obligations do we have to obey the laws? What is non-violent direct action and how does one prepare for it? Under what conditions would it be justify to pursue social change by any means necessary?

Reading(s):

  Crito by Plato (Links to an external site.) (Exploring Ethics Chapter Two)

  Letter from a Birmingham Jail (Links to an external site.) by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Due October 25th: Ethical Position Paper Assignment One: Peer Review.

Due October 29th: Discussion Eight.
Week Ten (November 1st-November 5th): Animal Ethics Part One. The big questions for this week are: What characteristics does a being need to have in order for it to be deserving of moral consideration? What is the difference between saying that non-human animals have rights and saying that we should care about the welfare of non-human animals? What should we think about practices such as using animals for food, entertainment, clothing, and research?

Reading(s):

A Utilitarian Defense of Animal Liberation by Peter Singer

Due November 5th: Discussion Nine.

Week Eleven (November 8th-November 12th): Animal Ethics Part Two. What does it mean to say that animals have rights? How might our obligations to non-human animals be different if we conclude that they have rights than they might have been if we concluded only that we ought to care for their welfare? Do only beings that can exercise autonomy have rights? Does the possession of rights require the ability to understand those rights?

Reading(s):

The Radical Egalitarian Case for Animal Rights by Tom Regan
Why Animals Have No Rights by Carl Cohen (On Canvas)

Due November 12th: Discussion Ten.

Week Twelve (November 15th-November 19th): Environmental Ethics. The big questions for this week are: How has the human relationship to the natural world changed? What does it mean to say that something is "natural"? Do we have moral obligations to preserve what is "natural"? What, if any, obligations do we have to preserve the environment for future generations?

Reading(s):

Ethics and Global Change by Dale Jamieson (Links to an external site.)
Philosophical Problems for Environmentalism by Elliott Sober (Links to an external site.)

Week Thirteen (November 22nd-November 26th):

Catch-up and THANKSGIVING BREAK.
Week Fourteen (November 29th-December 3rd):

Ethics and Technology. The big questions for this week are: How has the nature of our moral obligations changed as technology has developed? What kinds of technology present challenging new moral questions? How might trolley problems inform our decision making when it comes to making decisions involving new technologies? How ought we to program self-driving cars? Should they always favor the driver? Should they benefit the greatest number?

Reading(s):

- The Trolley Problem by Judith Jarvis Thomson
- Actions
- Turning the Trolley by Judith Jarvis Thomson
  Actions
- Why Ethics Matters for Autonomous Cars by Patrick Lin

Week Fifteen (December 6th- December 10th): Catch up and Review

Final Exam available in the Testing Center December 13th-December 17th.

Library Services

All USU students attending classes in Logan, at our Regional Campuses, or online can access all databases, e-journals, and e-books regardless of location. Additionally, the library will mail printed books to students, at no charge to them. Students can also borrow books from any Utah academic library. Take advantage of all library services and learn more at libguides.usu.edu/rc. (Links to an external site.)

Classroom Civility

Utah State University supports the principle of freedom of expression for both faculty and students. The University respects the rights of faculty to teach and students to learn. Maintenance of these rights requires classroom conditions that do not impede the learning process. Disruptive classroom behavior will not be tolerated. An individual engaging in such behavior may be subject to disciplinary action. Read Student Code Article V Section V-3 (Links to an external site.) for more information.

University Policies & Procedures

COVID-19 Classroom Accommodations
To ensure that you receive the appropriate accommodation for COVID-19 related challenges, the University requires you to fill out the COVID-19 Questionnaire (Links to an external site.). Upon doing so, the University COVID CARE Team (Links to an external site.) will contact you to determine your needs and how to support you. The CARE Team will also contact your instructors and provide important direction on how best to accommodate your needs. For additional reference, please see USU’s Attendance and Excused Absence (Links to an external site.) policy and the COVID-19 Classroom Accommodations (Links to an external site.) page.

Reducing COVID-19 Risk
You can help keep classes, events, and activities happening in person this semester by following these steps:

1. Get vaccinated if you're able. Vaccines are the best available tool to help stop the spread of COVID-19. They are safe, free, and easy to access.
2. If you are vaccinated, let USU know. Please upload your proof of full vaccination (Links to an external site.) to AggieHealth. If you are exposed to COVID-19, USU’s case containment will not require you to quarantine if they know you are vaccinated and you do not have symptoms.
3. Stay home if you're sick and get tested for COVID-19 if you have symptoms or have been exposed. It’s important to not bring any illness to campus.
4. Wear a mask indoors. Public health experts recommend that even vaccinated people wear masks indoors in high COVID-19 transmission areas, which includes most of Utah.

If USU’s COVID Case Containment team identifies an uncontained situation in the classroom, you will be notified of any temporary changes to your course delivery method through a Canvas announcement. Please make sure you are receiving immediate notifications of new Canvas announcements. The situation will be handled according to protocols on the COVID Classroom Exposure (Links to an external site.) page.

Class Seating Charts (For In-Person Classes)
In classes with more than 10 students, a seating chart will be used to track where you are sitting. After the first week of classes, your instructor will tell you how to enter your seat number in Canvas. You must sit in the same seat for the rest of the semester. This is extremely important for tracking cases of COVID-19 and helping classes remain in person.

Academic Freedom and Professional Responsibilities
Academic freedom is the right to teach, study, discuss, investigate, discover, create, and publish freely. Academic freedom protects the rights of faculty members in teaching and of students in learning. Freedom in research is fundamental to the advancement of truth. Faculty members are entitled to full freedom in teaching, research, and creative activities, subject to the limitations imposed by professional responsibility. Faculty Code Policy #403 (Links to an external site.) further defines academic freedom and professional responsibilities.

Academic Integrity – "The Honor System"

Each student has the right and duty to pursue his or her academic experience free of dishonesty. To enhance the learning environment at Utah State University and to develop student academic integrity, each student agrees to the following Honor Pledge: "I pledge, on my honor, to conduct myself with the foremost level of academic integrity." A student who lives by the Honor Pledge is a student who does more than not cheat, falsify, or plagiarize. A student who lives by the Honor Pledge:

- Espouses academic integrity as an underlying and essential principle of the Utah State University community;
- Understands that each act of academic dishonesty devalues every degree that is awarded by this institution; and
- Is a welcomed and valued member of Utah State University.

Academic Dishonesty

The instructor of this course will take appropriate actions in response to Academic Dishonesty, as defined the University’s Student Code. Acts of academic dishonesty include but are not limited to:

- Cheating: using, attempting to use, or providing others with any unauthorized assistance in taking quizzes, tests, examinations, or in any other academic exercise or activity. Unauthorized assistance includes:
  - Working in a group when the instructor has designated that the quiz, test, examination, or any other academic exercise or activity be done “individually;”
  - Depending on the aid of sources beyond those authorized by the instructor in writing papers, preparing reports, solving problems, or carrying out other assignments;
  - Substituting for another student, or permitting another student to substitute for oneself, in taking an examination or preparing academic work;
  - Acquiring tests or other academic material belonging to a faculty member, staff member, or another student without express permission;
  - Continuing to write after time has been called on a quiz, test, examination, or any other academic exercise or activity;
  - Submitting substantially the same work for credit in more than one class, except with prior approval of the instructor; or engaging in any form of research fraud.
- Falsification: altering or fabricating any information or citation in an academic exercise or activity.
• Plagiarism: representing, by paraphrase or direct quotation, the published or unpublished work of another person as one's own in any academic exercise or activity without full and clear acknowledgment. It also includes using materials prepared by another person or by an agency engaged in the sale of term papers or other academic materials.

For additional information go to: ARTICLE VI. University Regulations Regarding Academic Integrity

Sexual Harassment/Title IX

Utah State University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment free from acts of sexual misconduct and discrimination and to fostering respect and dignity for all members of the USU community. Title IX and USU Policy 339 address sexual harassment in the workplace and academic setting. The university responds promptly upon learning of any form of possible discrimination or sexual misconduct. Any individual may contact USU’s Office of Equity for available options and resources or clarification. The university has established a complaint procedure to handle all types of discrimination complaints, including sexual harassment (USU Policy 305), and has designated the Office of Equity Director/Title IX Coordinator as the official responsible for receiving and investigating complaints of sexual harassment.

Withdrawal Policy and "I" Grade Policy

Students are required to complete all courses for which they are registered by the end of the semester. In some cases, a student may be unable to complete all of the coursework because of extenuating circumstances, but not due to poor performance or to retain financial aid. The term 'extenuating' circumstances includes: (1) incapacitating illness which prevents a student from attending classes for a minimum period of two weeks, (2) a death in the immediate family, (3) financial responsibilities requiring a student to alter a work schedule to secure employment, (4) change in work schedule as required by an employer, or (5) other emergencies deemed appropriate by the instructor.

Students with Disabilities

USU welcomes students with disabilities. If you have, or suspect you may have, a physical, mental health, or learning disability that may require accommodations in this course, please contact the Disability Resource Center (DRC) as early in the semester as possible (University Inn # 101, (435) 797-2444, drc@usu.edu). All disability related accommodations must be approved by the DRC. Once approved, the DRC will coordinate with faculty to provide accommodations.

Students who are at a higher risk for complications from COVID-19 or who contract COVID-19 may also be eligible for accommodations.

Diversity Statement
Regardless of intent, careless or ill-informed remarks can be offensive and hurtful to others and detract from the learning climate. If you feel uncomfortable in a classroom due to offensive language or actions by an instructor or student(s) regarding ethnicity, gender, or sexual orientation, contact:

- Division of Student Affairs: https://studentaffairs.usu.edu (Links to an external site.), (435) 797-1712, studentservices@usu.edu, TSC 220

- Academic Freedom and Professional Responsibility Policy (Links to an external site.)

Emergency Procedures

In the case of a drill or real emergency, classes will be notified to evacuate the building by the sound of the fire/emergency alarm system or by a building representative. In the event of a disaster that may interfere with either notification, evacuate as the situation dictates (i.e., in an earthquake when shaking ceases or immediately when a fire is discovered). Turn off computers and take any personal items with you. Elevators should not be used; instead, use the closest stairs.

Mental Health
Mental health is critically important for the success of USU students. As a student, you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation. These mental health concerns or stressful events may lead to diminished academic performance or reduce your ability to participate in daily activities. Utah State University provides free services for students to assist them with addressing these and other concerns. You can learn more about the broad range of confidential mental health services available on campus at Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) (Links to an external site.).

Students are also encouraged to download the “SafeUT App” (Links to an external site.) to their smartphones. The SafeUT application is a 24/7 statewide crisis text and tip service that provides real-time crisis intervention to students through texting and a confidential tip program that can help anyone with emotional crises, bullying, relationship problems, mental health, or suicide related issues.
