What would Ric O’Berry think of your trailer?

What would the Japanese fishing community think of your trailer?

Describe the challenges you faced in your group coming up with a neutral trailer and how you dealt with them.

In what way did the groups’ word/image choices alter the meaning of the situation in Taiji for the audience?

Is it possible to create a culturally neutral narrative?